

Units & Systems: Writing

The Universal United Unit Union

Imagine that every country on Earth uses its own measurement systems. However, there has been some talk recently of trying to develop one system that everyone could share. But this new movement has no leader—until now. YOU are responsible for delivering a speech to the United Nations about the benefits of a unified standard system. Describe examples of how countries could better cooperate in science, enjoy sports, trade goods, etc.

Alternatively, you may choose to write a speech against the idea of a unified standard system if you prefer.

Using the focus words can help you make a better argument.
